

GRAND PLAZA & AMPHITHEATER

Location: Austin, TX
Size: 27 acres

Bordered by the track on three sides, the 27-acre Grand Plaza defines the experience for most visitors to the Circuit of the Americas. Visitors enter through a plaza containing the box office and entry gates. Inside, a monumental reflecting pool and varying landscape zones define unique areas of activity.

Along the plaza's northeast edge, large banners and bold graphics punctuate a trellis-covered promenade with amenities including concession stands, retail, restrooms and the Turn 15 grandstands. Upon reaching the Great Lawn, visitors are surrounded by the sights and sounds of the race, heightening the sensory experience of the track and cementing the circuit's identity.

Carved into the topography of the site, the Austin360 Amphitheater is the largest outdoor stage in Central Texas, with a total capacity of 14,000. Above the stage, a canopy of red steel tubes sweeps up and over the iconic Observation Tower to form a memorable backdrop.
